

Sgt. at Arms – Bulletin, April, 2024

Salute the Colors

The hand salute today, while it varies across the globe, says in effect "I greet you." Returning the salute says in turn "I return your greeting." The gesture is always friendly and rendered cheerfully and willingly. It is rendered with pride and as a recognition and sign of respect between comrades in the honorable profession of arms. Rendering Honors, a Salute to the U.S. Flag is also a sign of respect and Military Tradition.

Jennifer Zelony

Jmzelony@gmail.com